THURINGIAN

1970

Sandro,

It's been a long year. Lots of great things happened and lots of new people were met. All I have to say is that I'm glad I finally met you. Thanks for everything — especially for being there.

Love,
Jen.

Sandro,
To one of the many seniors I know I'll regret not knowing you better.
Have a good life.

Having observed others
Who have walked these halls
We walk.
We live our lives here
As we have seen others
Live theirs
Until we take the time
To break the rhythm
And look to see what makes us
Different from the rest.

Then we see each
As he really is,
As he truly lives,
As the unique
Pattern
That he is.

From the moment it began
Life here at Saint Elizabeth
Made patterns in our world,
Kaleidoscopic,
Intriging, abstract mosaics
We helped mold.

Desks in rows, silent halls
Shattered by the sound of bells;
Young people, going places,
Making tracks, pitter patterns;
Beating, mounting loudly
To unsettling paces.

To give shape to future dreams
New patterns must evolve;
None set, yet bold, free,
Open to brave discovery
Like the now generation—
You, me; together we.

But old patterns still remain
Though fresh prints
Mark our changing ways;
Lingering traditions,
Patched, reworked,
Some say will always stay.

How long has it been
From the time they began
To this present time
In our present world.

They are the different faces
Coming together to form one,
To set the trends
For younger ones.

They are persons creating patterns,
Helping to form the individual
With their able hands,
Grasping at undiscovered ability
That will change future worlds.

Years have formed them,
Experiences have taught them,
People have changed them,
And to know them was our gain.

To realize, to be unsure,
To question all
In our own special way.
Part of a class
But not part of it only;
Part of the universe,
Which is the slightest bit confusing.

The world open to us,
Everything open to us
Not knowing what
Or how to take.
Looking to friends
For knowledge.
But learning to walk
On our own
Developed by-ways.

To hold persons
As truly friends.

I'm learning,
Each day I'm learning.
About anything and everything:

Frogs, π^2, Egyptians, popcorn,
Friends.

I'm waking up;
Becoming aware
Of the patterns,
Responsibilities
Of growing
Up.

Hey neat!
Hi school!
I'm in high school now.
I'm kind of important.
Hi senior! Hi junior! Hi soph!

Which way do I go?
Help me.
Open my eyes
And begin this new pattern,
This new life.
